

Guest conductor for Cambridge orchestra

June 7, 2010

The Cambridge Community Orchestra closes out the season with a celebration of Vocal Splendour, June 12 at 8 p.m. at Forward Baptist Church, 455 Myers Rd.

Guest vocalists will perform some the greatest works by Mozart, Verdi, Puccini and others.

The season's closing concert will also feature a surprise conductor. Following in the footsteps of Mayor Doug Craig who took a guest spot in the fall of 2008, Stuart Summerhayes will be conducting the Cambridge Community Orchestra.

Summerhayes, who bid on a guest conducting spot opportunity at the Una Sera Bella fundraiser for the orchestra, has a new appreciation for the intricacies of conducting.

At a recent rehearsal, Summerhayes noted that it was a difficult role, and his arms were tired after less than his allocated four minutes.
